Chennai's teenagers are changing the world. Meet 15-year-old Arjun Santhosh Kumar who created LOCATERA, a new app for schools and parents to manage students' transportation. Parents will know where their child is and schools can manage a whole fleet of buses and thousands of student riders remotely. Massachusetts Institute of Technology \(MIT\) recognizes innovation – LOCATERA won the best design award for a new app from the university and Arjun was recognized by President Pranab Mukherjee as one of the youngest CEOs in India. Say CONGRATS to Arjun!
